Educational Travel with Family

Your child's education is very important to you and to us. We advise you to schedule family travel during school vacations. However, we realize that family travel can conflict with the school calendar. Please adhere to the following guidelines when you are making family plans for educational travel.

- We expect student will be traveling with parents. The student is responsible for assignments, completing all learning objectives, and making up coursework. All work will be graded and is due upon return.
- The student is responsible to secure teachers' signatures at least one week in advance of a family trip.
- We encourage that no trip occur during the first or last month of the school year or during the last week of the grading period or during PSSA or standardized testing sessions.
